Jordan Government Quits

Eisenhower, Dulles Warn Reds In Crisis

Regard Jordan's 'Independence And Integrity As Vital'

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles today discussed the crisis in Jordan as the eight-day-old government of Premier Hussein Khalidi resigned. They declared they regard that nation's "independence and integrity as vital."

Their view of the situation seemed to amount to a warning against any Communist aggression in that Mideast area, and came after mobs rioted in Amman, Jordan, and drove Khalidi's Cabinet into urgent session.

As the Cabinet met throughout the night, waiting outside were the country's political parties who had demanded that Khalidi's Cabinet resign to make way for an all-party coalition government.

Hussein Blames Reds

Jordan's young King Hussein blamed his country's troubles on "international communism and its followers" in an interview with American newsmen.

Eisenhower, mixing work and vacation here, talked by telephone to Dulles, who was in Washington. Their view that the independence and integrity of Jordan is vital was reported to newsmen by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

And Hagerty took pains to point out that part of the language they used was taken from the Mideast resolution which Congress recently approved.

Doctrine Provides For Aid

The Eisenhower Doctrine on the Mideast provides for extension of American military and economic aid to nations of that area threatened by Communist aggression—if such aid is requested.

Hagerty replied "Not to my knowledge" when asked whether Jordan has requested U.S. aid.

Asked then whether Eisenhower or Dulles have detected "signs of Communist activities in connection with the Jordan dispute, Hagerty said "no, I think that would be unfair to say."

Steel Tycoon Plans To Retire

PITTSBURGH, April 24 (AP)—Ernest T. Weir, who began his career as a $3 a week office boy, announced today he will retire as board chairman of National Steel Corp., a firm he founded in 1929.

The 81-year-old steel tycoon recommended that President Thomas E. Millip succeed him as chief executive officer. Weir said he will recommend "the election of an outstanding man" as chairman of the board next month. The choice was not disclosed.

Weir's retirement becomes effective May 16 when the board of directors meet to elect new officers. Weir was re-elected to the board of directors at the stockholders' meeting today.

His retirement plans were disclosed in a letter that Earl F. Reed, National's chief counsel, read at the meeting.

Mayflower II Will Be Over Week Late

LAND'S END, England, April 24 (AP)—Mayflower II radioted today it would be a week to 10 days late in arriving at Plymouth, Mass., on its replica voyage to the Pilgrims.

A signal was received by Land's End radio from Capt. Alan Villiers, master of the 180-ton wooden vessel, saying "We cannot hope to reach Cape Cod before the first week in June."

Before sailing from Plymouth, England, on Saturday, Capt. Villiers said he hoped to reach Plymouth, Mass., about May 25.

Aftermath Of Shotgun Slaying

Two teen-aged boys sit in a Chicago police station after being accused yesterday of the shotgun slaying of a 17-year-old Negro who was walking along the street. Dennis Moffitt (left), 18, is said by police to have driven a car from which a shotgun blast was fired, killing Curtis Bevins. David Vandersteeg (right), 19, told police Capt. William Touhy he fired a shot intended only to frighten Bevins.

Soviet Protests "Slanderous" U.S. Campaign

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—The Soviet Union tonight accused the United States of waging a "slanderous" campaign against Soviet diplomats.

Moscow radio said a protest note was handed to R. H. Davis, U.S. charge d'affaires in Moscow.

The note as broadcast by Moscow radio said:

"In the U.S.A. there has recently been a marked increase in a campaign obviously aimed at casting aspersions on activities of the Soviet Embassy in the U.S.A. and its staff.

Ambassador Is "Target"

"Slanderous allegations are also being made against the Soviet ambassador to the United States.

"A similar hostile campaign is conducted in the U.S.A. against the Soviet representative at the U.N. and the staff of the representation.

"It must be stressed that this impermissible campaign, which is incompatible with the development of normal relations between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A., is supported and even encouraged by certain American official circles.

"Abnormal Conditions"

"All this creates abnormal conditions for the work of the Soviet Embassy in the U.S.A. and of the U.S.S.R. representation at U.N. It is fitting to note that no such things take place in the Soviet Union with regard to the U.S. Embassy and its staff."

In Washington, State Department officials said they did not know what the Russians had in mind in making their protest.

There has been considerable criticism, in Congress and elsewhere, of activities by certain Soviet diplomatic personnel in the United States.

Iran Disasters Kill 31

TEHRAN, Iran, April 24 (AP)—At least eight persons were killed and 15 seriously injured in an earthquake which wrecked the village of Kejur Mesqal in central Iran last night, police reported. The quake destroyed 210 houses. At least 23 persons were reported drowned in floods which followed torrential rains in other parts of Iran.

Pentagon Bans Military Participation In Derby

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Defense Department confirmed today that it has told all branches of the armed services not to participate officially in the Kentucky Derby at Louisville May 4.

A department spokesman said decision was based on a directive of Sept. 13, 1955, disapproving of formal federal military participation in commercial sports events.

At Louisville, the president of Churchill Downs, Bill Corum, said that because of the proximity of Ft. Knox to Churchill Downs the fort's Army band has played the national anthem at the Derby in recent years.

"Aside from that, and an occasional color guard, we have not

Research Missile Hits 9,240 MPH For New Record

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—A missile launched from the Patrick Air Force Base in Florida was reported today to have reached a speed of 9,240 miles an hour, the fastest ever.

It was an X17 missile, made by Lockheed, strictly a research item and not designed as a weapon in itself. The Pentagon would not confirm the reports.

The highest speed heretofore reported for a test missile was 8,000 miles an hour. That was credited to a five-stage rocket fired from the Wallops Island, Va., installation of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Speed tests of the three-stage X17 have been conducted as a part of research into the heat problem encountered when the nose cone of a ballistic missile re-enters the earth's atmosphere after arching into space.

At Least 4 Die In Texas Floods

DALLAS, April 24 (AP)—Black storms lashed Texas with tornadoes, lightning, hail and drenching rains which sent rivers and streams surging over their banks today.

A woman and her child drowned near Johnson City. A man and his wife drowned at Killen and their child was missing. Lightning set an oil tank afire at Corsicana.

About 400 children were marooned in the schoolhouse at Marble Falls by creek floodwaters.

Several families were evacuated at Georgetown where the North and South San Gabriel rivers converged in a raging torrent.

Civil Defense officials said 300 persons were evacuated at Killen from floodwaters 10 feet deep. Nolan Creek was reported going out of its banks and firemen were evacuating people from the lowlands at Belton.

Floods threatened to return to Waco as 2.65 inches of rain lashed the city in an hour's time. Winds with gusts of up to 80 miles an hour were reported. Some property was damaged. As much as 5 inches of rain fell in parts of the Waco area.

Deputy Blasts Woman's False Affidavit Story

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—With the reliability of a star witness at stake, the Senate Rackets Committee drew completely contradictory stories today from a blonde prostitute and a nervous, indicted Portland, Ore., deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Kathleen Lucille Cooper Weeks, a 25-year-old honey blonde in a clinging white dress, swore she signed a false affidavit hurling dope and prostitution charges at Portland racketeer James B. (Big Jim) Elkins because Deputy Sheriff George Minelli threatened her.

Minelli loudly denounced this turnaround testimony as "the greatest hoax ever pushed onto the American public."

Mrs. Weeks' Story Supported

A third witness, Mrs. Mary Childress, supported Mrs. Weeks' story.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) referred the conflicting testimony—some of it obviously perjured—to the Justice Department for "appropriate action."

"I'm getting a little tired of this committee being imposed upon by liars," he declared.

Elkins gave key testimony in the committee's public study of allegations that high officials of the Teamsters Union in Seattle, Wash., tried to muscle in on vice and gambling in Portland, with the help of city and county officials in Portland. As the chief accuser, Elkins' credibility is important.

State Official Blamed

Minelli said he believes Mrs. Weeks and Mrs. Childress switched stories because Oregon's Dep. Atty. Gen. Arthur Kaplan threatened them with perjury charges unless they did. Minelli called Kaplan "a mental case."

He said Mrs. Weeks gave the affidavit against Elkins voluntarily.

Federal and state grand jury investigations of the Portland situation have resulted in something like 100 indictments against 40 people. Among them are Elkins, Mayor Terry D. Schunk of Portland, Dist. Atty. William Langley and Oregon Teamster mogul Clyde Crosby.

$270,000 Tax Lien Filed Against Foley

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 24 (AP)—A lien seeking $270,323 in alleged delinquent income taxes was filed today against Clyde (Red) Foley, nationally known television performer.

The lien, filed by the Internal Revenue Service in the Greene County Recorder's Office, alleged the delinquent payments covered the years from 1948 through 1955.

Sued For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, April 24 (AP)—Dan A. Kimball, 62, who served as secretary of the Navy under President Truman, was sued for divorce today by his wife of 31 years, Mrs. Dorothy A. Kimball. She charged extreme cruelty.

Egypt Announces Plan To Retain Suez Control

Pressures Rise For New Big 4 Arms Meeting

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—Pressures were building up tonight for a new Big Four summit conference on ways to halt the nuclear arms race and try to set the world on the path toward peace.

Soviet Premier Bulganin's Easter letter to Prime Minister Macmillan was seen as a possible prelude to a Soviet proposal for a meeting of Bulganin, Macmillan, President Eisenhower and French Premier Mollet.

The letter appeared also as a lever to move the British leader to visit Moscow soon.

Pressure From Asia

The pressures, which flowed primarily out of the perils of the Middle East situation, came from some Asian members of the British Commonwealth and had the backing of influential groups in the ruling Conservative and the opposition Socialist parties in Britain.

Several world powers were known to favor the idea because of their concern about the unrelenting East-West nuclear arms race.

Bulganin appealed to Macmillan to join in patching up British-Soviet relations and building peace between East and West.

After a preliminary study, the Macmillan government viewed Bulganin's letter as being partly propagandist in motive and perhaps partly a serious approach for a world settlement.

Little New In Proposals

British officials noted there was little that was new about Bulganin's proposals and one authority commented: "The words are fair but how about the deed?"

Yet it was learned that Macmillan was taking a good long look at Bulganin's 8,000-word note. He arranged to discuss it over dinner tomorrow with that old mastermind of British policy, former Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill.

Public and private evidence gathered by Western diplomats in recent weeks has suggested that the Kremlin wants to get out of the international doghouse to which it was consigned after the Hungarian revolution.

Blasts Rip GE Plant, Kill Two

PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 24 (AP)—Two explosions shattered a four-story brick and glass building at the General Electric Co.'s plant today. Two persons were reported dead and one man critically injured.

Several persons were reported cut by flying glass and injured by parts of the building.

General Electric identified the dead as Albert Kosche, 55, and Charles Gomez, 56, both of Pittsfield.

The injured man was Floyd L. Sherman of Pittsfield. Doctors at Pittsfield General Hospital said he was critically burned.

Company officials indicated they were uncertain how the explosion occurred. The building contains large vats where hot resins used in the making of plastics are cooled.

The blast occurred in a building housing the chemical phenol products department. Two distinct explosions were heard about 3 p.m. and one wall of the building was blown out.

Parts of the building were scattered over a wide area.

Fire followed the explosion.

Last Refugees Due At Kilmer Saturday

CAMP KILMER, N.J., April 24 (AP)—The President's Committee for Hungarian Refugee Relief announced today that next Saturday has been set as the cut-off date for receiving Hungarians at this reception center.

A spokesman for the committee said that the last group of refugees to be brought here will arrive Saturday aboard a plane scheduled to land at McGuire Air Force Base. Earlier it had been announced that the cut-off date would be April 30.

Flights for Hungarian refugees will continue to land at McGuire, the spokesman said, but refugees will be taken to the St. George Hotel in Brooklyn as previously announced.

U.S., Panama Fail To Agree On Nike Sites

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The United States and Panama are reported deadlocked over the grant of sites for Nike anti-aircraft missile stations to protect the Panama Canal.

The deadlock in the secret negotiations, an authoritative source said here, has existed since last spring, when the United States first requested an undisclosed number of sites.

He said the key to the matter is whether or not the United States must negotiate a new treaty with Panama before it can get the Nike sites within the republic's territory.

Sites In Zone Too Close

The United States, of course, has full right to establish Nike bases within the 10-mile-wide canal zone. But such sites might be too close to the canal for effective protection.

A 1903 convention with Panama for the construction of the canal gave the United States the right to acquire lands outside the canal zone if needed.

But Panamanians argue this has been modified by subsequent agreements between the two nations.

Suez Complicating Factor

A complicating factor in the negotiations, conducted in Panama City, may have been Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal, which has led some Panamanians to consider similar measures.

President Ernesto de la Guardia of Panama, in fact, recently was quoted as saying Panamanians feel they should regain "complete sovereignty" of the canal zone.

Panama's real objective, some observers say, may be to increase its share of the money received in tolls from the canal. It now gets $1,930,000 a year, raised only two years ago from $430,000.

N.Y. Catholics Urged Not To Attend Graham Rallies

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Roman Catholics should not attend evangelist Billy Graham's forthcoming New York crusade, a church spokesman said today. But he added that thousands of them probably will anyhow.

The Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the Bureau of Information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C., said Graham is "a danger to the faith" for Catholics who listen to him.

He said Graham's services are Protestant in nature — and Catholics are not permitted to participate in such services. But he added, regarding the New York campaign which begins May 15:

"Based upon Catholic participation figures in other cities, it is safe to say that Catholic attendance will be close to if not in the five-figure bracket."

Graham repeatedly has said he

U.N. To Consider Issue Tomorrow

CAIRO, April 24 (AP)—Egypt made public here today its plan to clamp complete Egyptian control on Suez Canal operations and toll money.

In New York the U. N. Security Council scheduled a meeting on the Suez issue Friday at the request of the United States.

The announced Egyptian plan provides some latitude in arbitrating disputes that may arise in operating the 103-mile waterway the Egyptians nationalized last July 26.

The Egyptian memorandum promised uninterrupted navigation for all nations — with some reservations — and proposed setting up a fund of one-fourth of all tolls to develop the canal.

Egypt To Collect All Tolls

Egypt will collect all tolls, the memorandum said, and the Egyptian government will take 5 per cent in royalties. It said toll increases would be limited to one per cent a year unless negotiations with users provided for more.

The Egyptian announcement and responsible Egyptian officials insisted that the document will have the force of an international treaty registered with the United Nations.

The memorandum was issued just before the Security Council in New York scheduled its Friday session.

The Egyptian statement said use of the canal would be "within the limits and in accordance with the provisions" of the 1888 Constantinople convention. This provides unhindered access to the canal for ships of all nations in war and peace; but Egypt bars Israeli ships under a convention security clause with the contention that the 1948 state of war with Israel still exists under the 1949 armistice.

The convention guarantees are administered as sovereign rights apart from the physical operation of the canal itself.

At the U. N. in New York an Egyptian delegation spokesman said Israel "definitely" will be barred.

In the main, the document appears to correspond closely to the plan President Nasser presented to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold several weeks ago.

American Vessel Completes Suez Canal Passage

PORT SAID, Egypt, April 24 (AP)—The President Jackson, an American President Line cargo-passenger ship, passed through the Suez Canal today and sailed into the Mediterranean. It did not stop in Port Said.

The 9,277-ton ship is the first flying the U. S. flag to use the canal since the 103-mile waterway was closed during the British-French invasion last November.

It is on a round-the-world voyage with cargo and 12 cruise passengers. It left New York Feb. 5.

Agents for the President Jackson said toll of $10,295 was paid to the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority under protest. This procedure, recommended by the U. S. State Department, lays the groundwork for any future litigation over disposal of the tolls.

TV's Nanette Fabray, Movie Writer Marry

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—TV comedienne Nanette Fabray and Randall MacDougall were married today by Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer of the City Court of General Sessions.

The ceremony in the jurist's chambers was attended by relatives and a few friends. The couple plans to leave tomorrow for a honeymoon in Hawaii.

It is the second marriage for each. Miss Fabray is 35, and MacDougall, a movie writer and director, is 42.

King Blames Troubles On Red Element

Cabinet Ministers Report Resignation In Wake Of Rioting

AMMAN, Jordan, Thursday, April 25 (AP)—Premier Hussein Khalidi's government has resigned, two Cabinet ministers reported early today.

The Western-inclined regime had been under steady attack since it was installed at young King Hussein's behest eight days ago.

Foreign Minister Suleiman Nabulsi and Development Minister Amin Madjad emerged from a long Cabinet session saying the resignation had been presented and accepted by King Hussein.

Street rioting, a familiar device in Jordan politics, had driven the Cabinet into urgent session.

The next step in the government crisis that has rocketed Jordan 15 days was not clear, although yesterday the King said in an interview: "You will get the idea of this in the next 24 hours."

In the interview the young King dramatically hurled a challenge at communism and said it would be overcome in his realm.

While the Cabinet met throughout the night at the Philadelphia Hotel, waiting in the lobby were members of the committee representing all the country's political parties that had demanded Khalidi's Cabinet resign to make way for an all-party coalition government.

Khalidi Talks With King

The ministers met for the second time yesterday after Khalidi had visited the royal palace and talked with the King.

Khalidi was reported carrying the Cabinet's resignation with him.

When he returned to the hotel to meet again with his ministers, the ailing Premier was smiling.

Observers surmised that he and the young monarch had agreed on some new scheme to end the political crisis, but there was no hint of what it might be.

Hussein last night blamed international communism and all its followers for the riots and shifts of government that threatened his kingdom.

He told American newsmen in an interview:

"I realize that it is not myself that is the only target of attack, but it is a general move to destroy all elements that can stand in the way of the new imperialism that wants to come into the Arab world."

Rioters Disperse Peacefully

"This campaign was forced upon us and we are going to fight for what we believe is for our honor and our responsibilities," he said in an interview.

"I don't think the crisis will come to an end until all elements and powers behind them (the Communists) realize it is not possible to infiltrate into this part of the world and change the way of thinking and beliefs of the people here."

The king spoke after a day of riotous violence in Amman by street mobs.

Crowds of young men, throwing rocks and shouting demands for Khalidi's resignation and federation with Syria and Egypt, swarmed out of Amman's hills into downtown streets. About 90 per cent of Amman's stores hurriedly closed at the strike call.

The rioters finally dispersed peacefully after police, carrying clubs and straw shields, had firmly segregated large crowds to prevent them from forming a single mass. Only a few minor injuries were reported.

ANPA Cool To Dulles' Red China Travel Offer

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Lead-offer, Dwight, who is publisher of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. reacted coolly today to limitations placed by Secretary Dulles on his qualified offer to permit American newsmen to travel to Red China.

Travel to the Communist Chinese mainland presently is banned entirely. Newsmen have contended this infringes on the American people's right to get firsthand news of conditions there.

William Dwight, ANPA president, told a general session of the ANPA convention that Dulles "yesterday invited the American newsgathering community to devise a way to send a limited number of reporters to Communist China without breaking down the general ban on travel to that country."

"The secretary refers to 'limited travel,'" he said. "In the thinking of the American newspaperman there is no such thing as limiting the right to know."

Asked whether this could be interpreted as a rejection of Dulles' offer, Dwight said:

Pittsburgh Ups Cost Of Parking

PITTSBURGH, April 24 (AP)—The penny slot that permits motorists in Pittsburgh to park for 12 minutes is about to join the five-cent cigar in the realm of once-upon-a-time.

On orders of City Traffic Engineer Michael J. Gittens the city's 3,300 parking meters that contain penny slots will be replaced beginning tomorrow.

New meters will register a half-hour for a nickel.

Gittens blamed the increase on higher costs for servicing meters.

SEC Halts Trading In Bellanca Stock

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission today ordered a 10-day suspension of all trading in the common stock of Bellanca Corp. of Newcastle, Del.

The suspension order includes all-over-the-counter dealings as well as trading on the American Stock Exchange.

SEC said the suspension "is necessary in order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative acts or practices."

A hearing will be held in the SEC's Washington office May 8 to determine whether the Bellanca to a motor plane Wolfmueller Corp. stock should be suspended built in 1910. And from that period, for not more than 12 months, or Joeckel says, there exist originals withdrawn, from listing and registration on the American Stock Exchange.

FCC Will Study New Television Station System

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission announced today it has voted to consider a revised plan for authorizing new television stations.

In general, the new plan would disregard the present fixed city-by-city table of TV channel assignments.

The commission said the assignment table, published in 1952, had served its purpose of getting a nationwide TV system into operation in orderly steps, and that a more flexible procedure is now possible.

The commission invited comment on the idea, to be submitted by June 3, after which it will proceed to final consideration of the change.

The proposal would not affect any of the fixed channel assignments reserved in specified locations for noncommercial, educational outlets, and could not be applied to areas within 250 miles of the Canadian and Mexican borders where the assigned channels are tied to international agreements.

Elsewhere, applications would be considered for any channel anywhere, so long as certain technical requirements were met, and there was no undue encroachment of an established or authorized ultra high frequency—UHF—operation by a proposed very high frequency—VHF—outlet.

VHF stations operate on the channels numbered 2 through 13, in existence since 1941. The UHF stations are on the newer channels numbered 14 through 83 whose wider use FCC has been attempting to promote for five years.

Exhibitors Reject Portrait Of Betsy

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—A portrait of Betsy, the finger-painting chimpanzee, is not "sufficiently artistic" to be exhibited here, a selection committee says.

The show chairman disagrees. Commercial artist Charles Grupp offered the painting to a local art group to "show that artists have a sense of humor."

He put Betsy in a thoughtful pose, wearing a winged collar and holding a painter's brush.

Professor Aulus Saunders of Oswego State Teachers College, a committee member, rejected the portrait as not being "sufficiently artistic." But the chairman, John De Tore, thought it was a "nice piece of work."

Betsy, of Baltimore, attracted nationwide attention recently when her products were exhibited.

QUARTER REMOVED BY SURGEON — Harriett Banahan, 9, of Baltimore, is holding a quarter, affixed to a note, which she probably never will spend. She swallowed the coin April 9 and was told it probably would be removed naturally. When it didn't, Dr. Ralph Ramirez removed it by surgery at St. Agnes Hospital, and mailed it to her.

Hopper-M'Gaw, Bit Of Old Baltimore, Gives Up Fight

BALTIMORE, April 24 (AP)—A bit of old Baltimore slipped into at least temporary oblivion today to the tune of the auctioneer's gavel.

Hopper-McGaw, a name synonymous with elegant dining and winging in the days of hoopskirts and carriages, gave up its long struggle for economic breath. The fancy grocery on a downtown corner succumbed to a tightening noose of traffic congestion.

Besides, its last owners said, the outlying supermarkets are carrying specialties such as rattlesnake meat and fried butterflies, so there's no concentrated demand for those items.

But if this 82-year-old fragment of antiquity lost its home, its ancient furnishings and its fancy stock, at least its name and its aim will live on in more modern surroundings.

Andre Schneebeli, a hair stylist, purchased the name, good will and customer list for $2,500. He announced later he was negotiating for a stall in the modern Lexington Market where he will hang out the "Hopper-McGaw" sign and sell fancy goods.

So that the stall may retain some of the old Hopper-McGaw flavor, Andre bought one of the store's two wooden Indians for $400.

Officer Shoots Estranged Wife, Kills Attorney

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—A policeman previously cited for heroism shot his estranged wife and killed a lawyer today while the couple was talking in the latter's office, police reported.

Shot and killed was Jacob A. Smith. The wounded woman was Mrs. Beryl Pegram, 30, Chief of Detectives James B. Leggett identified the policeman as Edward P. Pegram, 42, holder of six citations for outstanding police work. The Pegrams are Negroes, as was Smith.

The shooting took place in the law office of Watson, Carter and Smith, which is headed by State Sen. James L. Watson, Manhattan Democrat.

The Pegrams had been consulting Smith regarding a property settlement, custody of a child and alimony matters.

Leggett said the talks apparently collapsed, the group started to leave when Pegram drew a .32 caliber revolver.

"Nobody's going to send me to jail," he shouted and fired. Smith was shot in the chest and forehead. Two shots entered Mrs. Pegram's head. Her condition was described as critical at Beekman-Downtown Hospital.

Lisle C. Carter Jr. a member of the law firm, leaped upon Pegram and seized his gun. Pegram offered no resistance.

"I had to do it," he cried. "Nobody's going to take my child. What did I do? I'm sorry."

$50,000 Hopkins Grant

BALTIMORE, April 24 (AP)—Johns Hopkins University has received a grant of $50,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation for financing a five-year program for foreign economists.

Texas, the nation's largest state, also has the most counties, 254.

Tanner, Hated By Russia, Makes Finnish Comeback

HELSINKI, Finland, April 24 (AP)—It was conceivable, although not certain that Fagerholm might also resign from the premiership. On the other hand, to become premier Tanner would also have to win the approval of both a majority of the Parliament and President Urho Kekkonen, former leader of the Agrarian party, the largest political grouping in the country.

The Russians had made it clear in advance they would be out of sympathy with the choice. In spite of such warnings, a party caucus elected the strong-willed elder statesman by a 95-94 vote.

Tanner, 76, often has been described as the Finnish leader most hated by the Russians. In a trial staged on Russia's insistence, he was sentenced after the end of World War II to 5½ years at hard labor as being "corresponsible" for Finland's participation on Germany's side in the war.

Finnish official sources said that according to Finnish practice it would be "logical" if Tanner assumed a key position in the Finnish Cabinet. Finland is now ruled by a Socialist-Agrarian coalition Cabinet headed by Fagerholm.

Tanner was premier in 1926-27. Fagerholm said he is resigning from the Socialist party's governing board.

In the view of Finnish observers, it will be a significant move.

CLARINGTON, Ohio, April 24 (AP)—The Olin - Mathieson Chemical Corp. announced today it will begin initial production within seven months in its 50-million dollar aluminum plant now under construction four miles south of Clarington in sparsely settled Monroe County.

The sprawling aluminum reduction and fabrication facility will give employment to 2,200 employees who will earn more than 10 million dollars annually, said Harry E. Gude, general manager of the fabrication plant.

Atom Reactor Tests Planned At Middle River

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Tentative plans for a nuclear experiment at Middle River, Md. were announced today by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The AEC said it has filed notice of proposed issuance of a permit to the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, for construction at the Martin Airport.

The permit will be issued unless within 15 days from tomorrow, a request is filed for a hearing.

The proposed facility, to be housed in a building within the boundaries of the airport, will have two critical experiment cells operating independently of each other.

Initial experiments, the AEC said, will relate to the Martin Power Reactor and to systems similar to the U. S. Army Pack, age Power Reactor (APPR).

The reactor type to be investigated in the MPR experiment is a heterogeneous, water-moderated pressurized system using stainless steel clad enriched tubular fuel elements.

The AEC added that the assembly will be a prototype of the core of the Martin Power Reactor and will be used to check theoretical calculations and predict the nuclear characteristics of the reactor.

Flat plate fuel elements will be used in the APPR critical facility. The uranium fuel will be in the form of foils with stainless steel plates on both sides of the foils. Water will be used as moderator and reflector.

The AEC said the Martin company has indicated the earliest completion date is June 1, and the latest Aug. 1.

Baltimore Woman Dies At Age Of 107

BALTIMORE, April 24 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Hanna Magee, who recommended a cup of hot water every morning, died last night at the age of 107.

She had been in good health until last Friday. Her only physical impairment was slight deafness.

Mrs. Magee advocated the daily cup of hot water for longevity, indigestion and preventing toothaches.

She came to the United States from England in 1854 with her parents and three brothers. Her husband died in 1898. They had five children.

Most cork trees in the United States come from acorns which the government imported from Spain in 1858.

Ralph H. Beach, Colleague Of Marconi, Edison, Dies

BALTIMORE, April 24 (AP)—Ralph H. Beach, a colleague of Marconi and Edison and one of the first super-salesmen of electricity, died today at the age of 96. He was found dead in bed by his wife, Mrs. Bertha E. Beach. Cause of death was not known immediately.

Beach, born in Linden, Mich., went to night school by working as a blacksmith. That was his only formal schooling.

His first invention, a railway coupling, for which he won top honors at an international railway exhibit at Darlington, England, started him to the first of several fortunes he made and lost.

He returned to the United States and began manufacturing iron drop forgings. But he was soon wiped out by a financial panic.

He then went to Detroit, where he helped develop an arc light and assisted in electrically lighting the streets there for the first time.

Annapolis Fire Loss "Extensive"

ANNAPOLIS, April 24 (AP)—About a dozen persons were awakened and hustled to safety by firemen and police early today as fire swept three Main Street apartment buildings.

Four business establishments below the eight apartments also were damaged by fire, smoke or water.

The blaze was brought under control quickly as three Annapolis fire companies answered the first alarm at 4:45 a.m. and the other two local companies plus the Naval Academy unit responded to a general alarm sounded 15 minutes later.

Emory G. Bowen, technical inspector for the Annapolis Fire Department, called the damage "extensive" but said he could not yet make an estimate of the loss.

Bowen believes the fire started in the rear of the L. P. Musterman Hat Shop, but he has called in State fire investigators to check his findings and determine the exact cause.

40 Bus Passengers Shaken Up In Crash

BALTIMORE, April 24 (AP)—About 40 passengers on a city bus were shaken up today when the vehicle collided with a pickup truck.

The driver of the small truck crawled out of the wrecked pickup and fled. Police later chased down and arrested Buster Davis, 21, Negro, and charged him with driving without a license, leaving the scene of an accident, making an illegal right turn and reckless driving.

Several years later he became associated with Alva Edison, who already had invented the incandescent lamp.

He turned to selling. He sold a lighting system to the Pillsbury flour mills, believed to be the first big lighting job west of the Mississippi. He also persuaded James Hill, St. Paul railway magnate, to wire his mansion for electricity, the first home west of the Mississippi to be so equipped.

He also sold the first electric railway engine ever used by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

He also worked with a group of men that eventually formed the General Electric Co. He was credited with bringing into the group Charles Steinmetz, inventor of direct current.

About 1904, he left GE and bought an iron mine in Mexico. A revolution there forced him to flee, penniless again.

Next, he collaborated with Edison in developing the "electrified" car.

He retired in the '20s to his home near Anne Arbor, Mich. But the depression of the '30s wiped him out again, at the age of 72.

He moved to Rosedale, in Baltimore County, in 1939, and continued to turn out inventions. While there, he perfected a pump for household purposes, a circular hedge shears and a fertilizer made from cottonseed pods.

He and his wife moved to a house here two years ago.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow at 3 p.m. at a funeral home.

Survivors include his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Donna West of New York City, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Earl of Mont Clair, N.J.

Mental Tests Set For Accused Youth

ROCKVILLE, Md., April 24 (AP)—A 16-year-old Bethesda boy, accused of setting more than a dozen fires and stabbing another youth, today was ordered confined in a nearby institution for psychiatric observation.

The youth, questioned yesterday by Montgomery County detectives, appeared with his mother and stepfather this morning before Judge Alfred D. Noyes of Juvenile Court. The judge postponed a full hearing of the charges until the psychiatric study is complete.

Pair Convicted As Arson Trial Draws To Close

ROCKVILLE, Md., April 24 (AP)—A two-day arson trial ended last night when a Montgomery County Circuit Court jury returned guilty verdicts against two Takoma Park men.

The jury found Arley Ancel Carter, 21, guilty of setting afire his former home at Takoma Park. His uncle, Ira Chester Carter, 41, was found guilty of aiding and counseling him.

The two had been under arrest since January when they were picked up in West Virginia, according to Capt. Edwin Cissel, Takoma Park detective chief. The Carters hail from Simons, W. Va.

Testimony indicated the two men plotted setting fire to the two-story frame house to collect insurance. The blaze caused damage estimated at over $6,000.

It also was brought out in testimony that the house was overinsured, with Ira Carter, as contract purchaser, taking out a $7,000 policy on the house three weeks before the fire and a $5,000 one on the contents. The former owner also had two policies, the court was told, which were turned over to Carter.

State's Atty. Alger Y. Barbee said the insurance adjusters' claim on the house was $17,000 when the house was valued at only $12,500.

Plan To End Ward System Vote Issue

CHEVERLY, Md., April 24 (AP)—A proposal to abolish the ward system in Cheverly, Md., prompted in part by fear that a Negro may someday be elected to the Town Council, has become the top issue in the municipal election campaign here.

It may well decide whether Mayor Lawrence J. Yates stays in office for a third term or is succeeded by Mrs. William J. Flynn, an elementary school teacher, who would become the town's first woman mayor.

Election day is May 6.

In addition to voting for mayor and filling four of the six council seats, Cheverly residents will vote on an amendment to the town charter which would provide that all six council members be elected at large rather than from six individual wards.

Backers of the amendment, who include Mayor Yates, concede that one of their chief motivations is the fear that the 4th Ward may soon send the council its first Negro.

Hungary Reds Still Hunting 10,000 Rebels

BUDAPEST, April 24 (P) — Six months to the day since Hungary's anti-Russian revolt began, Communist authorities are still hunting nearly 10,000 escaped prisoners and 25,000 missing weapons that slipped out of their hands.

"But what is that against hundreds of thousands of Russian soldiers?" one non-Communist Hungarian asked.

The Interior Ministry said today that half the prisoners released during last October's revolt had been recaptured. It gave no figures, but the number of those who escaped has been put in speeches by Communist officials at 19,000 to 20,000.

Many, the government says, fled to the West.

Despite repeated announcements of the discovery of hidden arms and death penalties for hiding them, Communist officials are still worried about 25,000 weapons unaccounted for. During the revolt many of the Soviet-trained Hungarian army either handed over arms to the rebels or actually joined them.

The government of Premier Janos Kadar installed by the Russians is still there. So are the Russians themselves — an estimated 9 or 10 divisions — and there is no question now of their withdrawal.

No sign has been given that independent newspapers or political parties will be allowed to operate.

Nor has there been any report of significant releases among the thousands arrested since the revolt. Death sentences are announced almost every day and a new "People's Supreme Court" began its career last week by upping a 15-year jail sentence to hanging.

About the only organized resistance to the regime comes from the Roman Catholic Church. It insists on removing from key posts any priest who has been prominent in the Communist-led so-called peace movement.

Scientists Hope Monster Machine Will Produce Super-Heavyweight Atoms

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter
BERKELEY, Calif., April 24 (P) — Scientists have unveiled a monster machine which they expect to produce super-heavyweight atoms and a deeper understanding of the nature of matter.

The machine will fire the cores of atoms such as carbon, nitrogen and argon into atoms of uranium. Heretofore, atomic bullets have been limited to the lightest atoms such as hydrogen and helium. Carbon and argon are respectively 12 and 40 times heavier than hydrogen.

When a carbon or argon nucleus hits and sticks to a uranium atom the resulting mass will be something new in the way of man-made particles. They probably will constitute new elements far beyond the weight of the heaviest natural element, uranium.

The machine is a heavy ion linear accelerator. It is the newest addition to the University of California's famed radiation laboratory and was built by the Atomic Energy Commission at a cost of 1 1/2 million dollars.

The Berkeley scientists in the past have produced nine elements heavier than uranium.

The heavier bullets, fired into uranium, should yield about six still heavier elements in the next few years, said Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, Nobel prize winner who played a leading part in the production of the original heavy-weight atoms.

It also should produce some strange new variations of the conventional elements lighter than uranium, he said. This would mean possibly new and different basic substances for use in medicine and biology as well as in chemistry and physics.

The Hilar mainly is a gigantic vacuum chamber, probably the world's largest. It is a tube 10 feet in diameter and 112 feet long, divided into a short and a long section.

Atoms of carbon and other bullet material are first put into a machine which strips them of some of their electrons. This gives them a positive electrical charge which makes them susceptible to being accelerated through space by high frequency radio waves.

The long and short sections of the tube speed and further strip the atomic bullets until they have a striking power of 10 million volts per unit of mass, which means 120 million volts for carbon atoms and 400 million for argon.

These bullets then are ready to work on target atoms.

A duplicate of Hilar is under construction at Yale University. Eventually these machines will be used in biological and medical research.

Jordan's Bedouin Troops Prepared For Showdown Battle With Palestinians

CAIRO, April 24 (P)—Jordan's Bedouin troops, the dashing desert fighters of the Lawrence and Glubb traditions, are ready for a showdown battle with the kingdom's Palestine Arabs.

The Bedouins are traditionally loyal to the throne. The Palestine Arabs who have piled in and threaten to dominate the realm have other ideas.

Once the backbone of Jordan's Arab Legion, the Bedouins were pushed into the background after a group of Palestinians and townspeople under Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar ousted British Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb and took over the army last year.

Nuwar is not Palestinian. But his views coincide with the violently anti-Western sentiments of half a million Palestine Arabs embittered by the loss of their homes to Israel.

In the lightning events of the past 10 days, however, the Bedouins made a strong comeback. They helped King Hussein thwart an attempted coup by Nuwar. Now Nuwar and his faction have been kicked out and a Bedouin—Maj. Gen. Habes Majali—is acting chief of staff.

The Bedouins are insisting on a thorough purge of Nuwar men from the army and on bringing back old-timers purged by Nuwar. And they are ready to shoot to kill if Palestinian mobs make trouble in the streets.

One Jordanian observer said street riots are usually started by leftists but "if trouble begins now, the Bedouins will assume every Palestinian is a leftist and every leftist is a Palestinian. They will make things tough for every Palestinian they see."

During last week's crisis, Bedouin troops poured into amman with faces smeared black—a traditional sign they are ready to shoot to kill—and for several days watched for the least sign of uprisings against King Hussein.

A hot-headed refugee in Arab Jerusalem told this correspondent leftists who tried to stir up trouble in the past few days could not get enough support to form a mob.

"To tell you the truth, we're scared," he said. "If we start trouble now we are afraid the Israelis may move in and our army will pull back to the Jordan. Then I would be a refugee for the second time."

The Bedouins have a practical reason for disliking the Palestinians. Before the merging of Arab Palestine with Jordan after the Arab-Israeli war of 1948, the desert kingdom lived peacefully on a British subsidy with its Bedouin culture undisturbed. The intensely nationalistic Palestinians insisted on ousting British influence and allying Jordan with anti-Western Egypt and Syria.

In the old days, Glubb carried on the traditions of the famous Lawrence of Arabia. Glubb built his army largely from Bedouin material. His men were once known as "Glubb's Girls" because they kept their hair long in black braids, Bedouin style.

The flowing Bedouin headdress was part of the army uniform.

As Palestinian influence grew, soldiers were required to cut their hair and Palestinians demanded abolition of the Bedouin headdress in favor of the Europeanized army cap worn by the Egyptians and Syrians.

Worst of all, Glubb's fat family allowances were abolished by Nuwar.

Glubb had established a high pay scale with extra allowance for each wife and child. He accepted the word of the sheik of each tribe as to whether a Bedouin soldier was married.

Since Moslem Bedouins legally could have four wives, the sheik usually reported quadruple marriage for each of his men in the army. Adding up all possible children this amounted to a sizable subsidy for the tribe.

When Nuwar became army chief he abolished these veiled subsidies. The Bedouins never forgave Nuwar for that.

Latin American Nations To See U.S. Mock War

FORT CLAYTON, C.Z., April 24 (P)—Representatives of almost a score of Latin American countries began flying into the Panama Canal Zone today to see the United States stage a mock war for the defense of the waterway.

Similar big training maneuvers have been held for several years in the U.S.-Puerto Rican area. Now for the first time Exercise Caribex has been moved to the canal zone.

This week's exercise will involve more than 15,000 men and scores of warships and aircraft. Some of the exercise will be conducted over Panama territory where certain areas have been set aside for American use in addition to the 10-mile wide canal strip the United States operates under treaty.

Like most military training exercises, this one follows a script with a hypothetical assumption: that an unspecified aggressor force was repelled in an attempted invasion of the West Coast of the United States, then switched its efforts in an attempt to seize the canal.

Use of both high explosive and simulated atomic weapons figures in the battle plan.

Airborne troops, a battalion of about 1,000 paratroops of the 82nd Airborne Division, a battalion combat team of the 20th Infantry Regiment, and about 6,500 Marines, using both helicopter and overbeach landing craft technique, will take part.

Ships and landing craft number about 30. More than 60 aircraft, including jet fighters, paratroop drop planes and tankers for refueling jet fighters, will be used.

Rearmament Opposed

TOKYO, April 24 (P)—The Cabinet secretariat polled 20,000 citizens on the question of Japan's rearmament and reported only 28 percent were in favor. The United States has urged Japan to speed its rearmament program.

10,000 Work On Dam

HONG KONG, April 24 (P)—About 10,000 Chinese have begun work on a huge Sining River hydroelectric power project 300 miles southwest of Shanghai, says Peiping radio. The project will supply industrial Shanghai.

Expert Labels Capital Eating Habits "Poor"

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 24 (P)—The nation's capital may be all right in other respects, but its eating habits are deplorable.

Our authority is James A. Beard, a man to whom eating is a joy—and a business.

"You take the Washington cocktail hour," Beard said today. "You take a few shots, and pick up a few handfuls of cocktail litter. If you make a few rounds of catered parties, pretty soon you find you don't want to eat anything."

To Beard, few fates can be worse than not wanting to eat anything.

Many a business marks its followers. A carpenter may have calloused hands, a professional tennis player a bulging forearm, a politician a vocabulary cluttered with tired clichés, words worn out through overuse.

Beard, a massive man with a massive stomach, shows the result of a lifetime conscientiously devoted to duty.

Beard got off to a head start in his chosen profession. His mother ran a hotel, with an interest in fine foods. Beard became a restaurant owner, and, after World War II, an author of books on eating and a consultant on food and drink. For example, the cognac industry hires him as a consultant.

Since Beard is here on business, he has been testing the local restaurants and is unimpressed.

Possibly Washington's poor eating habits inevitably lead to few good places to eat.

"But it should be better," Beard said. "New York continues to have a lot of good small places that flourish. Of course, New York is an expensive account town, and expense accounts do make good food."

Other Beard observations:

That the United States is becoming more and more interested in good eating. He credits this to the war, but no thanks to mess sergeants. Visits to strange places, he said, convinced many that food can taste different and still be good.

That despite this interest, it's going to take another generation to produce enough discriminating eaters so that fine restaurants can be found in almost any community.

That diners would get better food right now, if they were only honest. "When the waiter comes up after the meal and ask, 'How was the meal?', why not tell him, 'The meat was terrible' or 'The salad was lousy'?"

That the best cooking often is the simplest. "What I like is food that is honestly simple and well cooked, served hot if it should be hot and cold if it should be cold." Beard doesn't go in much for what he calls gluck. "Good food should be recognizable," he said.

That mental hazards keep many persons away from good eating. "I was discussing eels the other day. The idea of eating eels is particularly repugnant to some people. Now eel has a most distinctive flavor and texture. Texture is most important in food and drink."

Beard sighed at the thought of people who let mental hazards and texture stand between them and good eating. During the lull this reporter wondered if he ever thought about dieting.

"Oh, yes," he said, "I plan to lose 40 pounds this summer." And he added with the zeal of the true gourmet:

"I'm already looking forward to having a great deal of fun gaining it back."

Barbers Kept In Rut

RYHL, Wales, April 24 (P)—President H. C. Prosser of the British Hairdressers' Federation says the average British father stifles the barber's craftsmanship because he wants his hair cut the same old way.

Prosser told a federation meeting here: "He frowns on the lively young devotees of rock 'n' roll and modern haircuts—all signs of youth's revolt against fossilized views."

"HEAVENS NO!" — That could well be the feelings of Ron Smith and his daughters, Janet, 2, left, and Renita, 3, as they view bald dome of their wife and mother, Pat, at San Francisco after she submitted to having her hair completely cut and shaved off yesterday—all for a remuneration and publicity for a motion picture. Mrs. Smith is — rather was — a blonde. Pat's reason for agreeing to the stunt is a "career." She'll wear a wig until her hair grows back. (AP Photofax)

Tiny 'Mike' Picks Up Heart Sounds

NEW YORK, April 24 (P)—A New York specialist reported yesterday that the human heart can now be auditioned in certain cases. From its performance before a tiny microphone, doctors may be able to tell what has gone wrong with the organ.

The report was made by Dr. Howard L. Moscovitz of Mount Sinai Hospital to a meeting sponsored by the New York Heart Assn.

A supersensitive microphone — three-fourths of an inch long and about as thick as a lead pencil—is passed through an artery or vein directly into the heart.

Outside attachments translate the sounds picked up by the mike into data on the heart's performance. The sounds are purer than those taken by stethoscope.

Dr. Moscovitz said the microphone has been tested experimentally on animals and a few humans.

Bandage Grows With College Ivy

CHICAGO, April 24 (P)—The bandage is growing — figuratively—with the ivy on college campuses.

The National Safety Council reported today that:

The accident toll among collegians is "alarmingly big and growing bigger."

More students get hurt in their dormitories than in cars.

Each year one out of every nine students in American colleges and universities suffers injuries requiring medical attention.

And more of them get hurt on the campus than away from it.

The council said these findings were made in studies carried out in cooperation with the American College Health Assn.

College safety specialists plan to take up the problem at a meeting May 6 to May 8 at Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind.

First Plane To Gird Globe Given Museum

DAYTON, Ohio, April 24 (P)—The first airplane to fly around the globe was unveiled in a public ceremony yesterday at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near here.

The "New Orleans," a Douglas Air Cruiser, made the 175-hour trip in 1924. Today the plane was given to the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Museum by Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Airplane Co.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, April 24 (INS)—“Without publicity there can be no public spirit, and without public spirit every nation must decay,” said Benjamin Disraeli.

It is no odd coincidence that the U. S. and the American press have thrived simultaneously. Men since Jefferson have seen an irrevocable tie between the two facts. The third president of the young country, while serving as ambassador to France (1785-89), wrote his friend Continental Congressman Col. Edward Carrington from Paris:

“Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter.”

Despite such championing, the American press has had to battle through the ages to keep Americans informed as to what their elected and appointed servants were up to.

Alexander Hamilton, writing in “The Federalist” challenged the draft of the First Article of the Constitution:

“What is the liberty of the press? Who can give it definition which would not leave the utmost latitude for evasion? I hold it to be impracticable; and from this I infer that its security, whatever line declaration may be inserted in any constitutional respecting it, must altogether depend on public opinion and on the general spirit of the people and of the government.”

Veteran newsman Allen Raymond’s pamphlet, “The People’s Right to Know,” lists hosts of examples of the suppression of public information. J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, and a man extremely sensitive to peacetime censorship, said in a speech at the University of Minnesota School of Journalism:

“The right of the people to know about the conduct of their own government is being obstructed in the executive, judicial and legislative branches at local, state and federal levels. The obstruction has increased throughout an historic interlude in which the rank and file of citizens have become more competent than ever before to understand and to act intelligently about their own rule.”

But newspapers keep at it, this job for which they were created presenting each day a durable archive of events momentous and microscopic. Through the years they have altered our way of life, the way we think, speak, dress, cook, sleep, house ourselves, dream, and solve $50,000 puzzles.

Newspapers made baseball the national game. In an age of diminishing church attendances, they bring readers daily religious thoughts by prominent men of the cloth. Most Americans have been on the alert for get-rich-quick promoters since the Boston Post exposed Ponzi 35 years ago. The murder of Don R.

Eagles Award Given Mrs. Harry Beneman

Mrs. Harry Beneman has been presented the “Civic Service Award,” the highest honor bestowed by the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

During a ceremony at the home of Cumberland Aerie 245, F.O.E., Herman L. Myers, secretary of the aerie, made the presentation. The award was given in recognition of Mrs. Beneman’s leadership in establishing and promoting local visits of the mobile unit from the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Red Cross Blood Center, and other Allegany County Red Cross Chapter work.

Mellett, crusading publisher of the Canton (O.) Daily News, after his attacks on crime in his area, caused a wholesale housecleaning in the region’s politics.

The blinding of Victor Riesel is one of the reasons behind the work of the McClellan labor racketeering investigation.

Loopholes in veterans’ insurance, bribery, fraud, corruption, voting scandals, public nuisances, blight, vandalism, bad roads, dope peddlers, abortion rings, hoodlums, all have been illuminated first by newsmen. Papers have, on their own, developed reforms, provided uncountable “causes” with the needed publicity. Which leads us to conclude with a thought expressed by President Truman at a Gridiron Dinner in 1947:

“This is the greatest governmental system in the world,” said this frequent critic of the press. “Our press has helped to make it so. I am not here just to butter up the press. But, it is the best press in the world and it is doing a fine job. It is an integral part of our democracy.” (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Grooming for a special occasion takes time; plan your routine so you won't have to rush.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Special-Occasion Grooming

Today I want to give the teenager a few beauty hints to make a special impression on a special person (your best beau!) for a special occasion—say, a school prom.

If you schedule your preparatory hours, you won’t necessitate rushing; then you can enjoy your party to the fullest, without concern for details you may have neglected.

Advance Planning

You probably will have decided in advance what gown, shoes, and jewelry you will wear. You will have tried on the complete outfit, to be sure that each element complements every other, and that you haven’t forgotten anything—gloves or evening purse, for example.

On party day, be sure your dress is pressed and ready. Lay out your accessories, complete to your wispy girdle and the strapless brassiere that gives you such becoming curves.

Your hair has been shampooed the night before; now give it a final setting. Roll the curls without wetting your hair, then wrap a steaming towel round your head—turban-like—for a five-minute set. Let the curls dry under a net.

A warm relaxing bath can be timed on the beauty schedule to coincide with drying curls. Then a powder dusting, lingerie and make-down.

This is no time to experiment with cosmetics. Wear rouge and eye shadow, but apply them sparingly. Choose a bright clear-red lipstick, or one with orange or bluish cast, depending upon the color of your dress.

Final Touches

The Powers Girls always do a careful job of applying cosmetics when they dress, to save extensive touch-ups later. Then you need carry in your evening purse only what it is designed to contain: a lipstick, comb, handkerchief, compact, tissues—and a door key.

Ready for the last-minute details? Your dress, your necklace and earrings, a last brush of the hair (with a cape covering your shoulders), and a checkup in the long mirror.

There’s the doorbell . . . the evening’s begun!

Thirty per cent of the accidents in the home occur in the kitchen-dining room area while only four per cent happen in the bathroom.

Local Resident
Police Chief
Of Ridgeley

The Mayor and Council of Ridgeley Tuesday hired a Cumberland resident as chief of police for a probationary period of 30 days, beginning yesterday.

Hired as chief was Jack D. Cornett, Jane Frazier Village, who was selected from three candidates for the post, vacant since the resignation of Robert Zimmerman on Monday. Zimmerman was chief for but a short time, succeeding Harry L. Detrick, both of whom resigned to accept other employment.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said Cornett not only met the qualifications agreed on by Council, but also had previous experience with the Metropolitan Police Force of Washington.

Cornett plans to move to Ridgeley following his probationary period, Fryer said, and until he establishes residence police calls are to be made to Blair Haines, who has been acting chief, at RE 8-9253.

Council also instructed the Police Department to enforce the dumping of trash and refuse at the municipal dump. Ridgeley, the mayor explained, leases the dumping area annually for use of city trucks, and persons found violating the regulations will be fined.

The Mayor and Council also completed plans for the Ridgeley primary election, Mayor Fryer said, adding that the event will be in the form of a mass meeting Tuesday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Ridgeley High School auditorium.

Candidates will be named for mayor and recorder, and ten nominees will be selected for council posts. A mayor, recorder and five councilmen will be elected at the general election on Tuesday, June 4.

The next two regular meetings have been advanced a day, the mayor said, due to the two elections. The meetings will be held May 8 and June 5.

Maryland, Area Business Termed Good

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Business in Maryland is good. But businessmen are inclined to regard its goodness with a cautious eye, much as a wallet on the sidewalk on All Fool's Day.

As a whole, there's little change from the infant months of 1956. By parts, "ups" in some categories have counter-balanced "downs" in others.

Construction is the prime example.

Home building, particularly in the big city suburbs, has slowed to a walk after a hearty three or four year run. But heavy construction has broken from a walk into a jog.

Industry, turning its back on congested areas, is expanding in the city suburbs and smaller towns. Schools are trying to catch up with the World War II baby boom. Highways are seeking to keep pace with automobile production.

Businessmen, meanwhile, are sensitive to any portent of inflation. While optimistic, they have generally adopted "conservatism" as their hallmark.

Lester C. Tingle, cashier of the County Trust Co. in Salisbury, summed it up thus:

"I haven't noticed much plunging lately."

Taking a diagnostic look at Maryland business, here are some symptoms worth considering:

The state has an expanding labor force. This is the only conclusion possible from figures which show both employment and unemployment on the increase.

Happily, employment's increase greatly outweighs that of unemployment.

During January, there were 862,000 people gainfully employed in the state compared with 826,700 during the same month of 1956, an increase of 4.3 per cent. For February, the comparative figures were 862,700 this year and 829,700 last year, or a four per cent increase.

Unemployment was up 600 to 41,600 in January, 1957, over the same month last year. The same margin held true in February, although unemployment had dropped to 39,000 from the previous month.

Department store sales for the four weeks which ended April 13 were up 4 per cent in the Federal Reserve Bank's Fifth District. In the Baltimore metropolitan area, the increase was 13 per cent.

But two factors must be considered in the Baltimore picture. One is the addition of four stores—all of them suburban branches of downtown stores—since last year. The other was a transit strike which sent department store sales plunging in downtown Baltimore during the first three months of 1956.

For the same four weeks, Washington area stores showed a 2 per cent loss. But a later Easter this year may have contributed to the decline.

Retailers throughout the state say their sales have kept pace with last year. But some, particularly small independent operators, complain that increased overhead costs have cut into their margin of profit.

Mrs. Florence Schroeder, secretary-treasurer of the Dorchester Grocers Association, said in Cambridge there has been a slow, "almost a sneaky," increase in prices lately. Food prices have crept up a penny at a time, she said, too slow for the independent merchant to pass it along to the customer. The big buyer can absorb these increases in quantity purchasing, Mrs. Schroeder said.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has kept a price check on a "food basket" which contains 15 items. Latest figures show that in March 1956, these items cost $7.76. In March of this year, the cash register total was up 42 cents to $8.18.

Generally, Maryland business observers report prices about the same or a bit higher than a year ago.

Possibly because the weather hasn't exuded the call of the open road, auto sales have been off throughout the state.

In the Washington area, auto prices are being discounted in an effort to speed sales.

In Cumberland and Cambridge, however, auto dealers reported new car sales ahead of last year. Used cars weren't moving as well, however.

Donald Bennett of Cambridge expressed the hope that the weather "will pep up like last spring" and predicted two weeks of good weather would bring an end to the doldrums.

Only in Baltimore, where an "inventory and equipment" tax was imposed this year to forestall an increase in the property tax rate, have manufacturers called off expansion programs.

Mathieson Chemical Corp., Esso Standard Oil Co., and Crown Cork and Seal have shelved plans for new plants at least until they can measure the effect of the new tax.

The pound of the rivet hammer and the slush of concrete should sound sweet to an industrial promoter's ear throughout the state this year.

While new home construction is off 21 per cent, heavy construction has taken a 20 per cent upsurge.

In the Cumberland area the State Roads Commission has six million dollars worth of projects a-building. Pittsburgh Plate Glass is pushing ahead with a 34 million dollar plant and West Virginia Pulp and Paper is undertaking a 50 million dollar expansion. Also under construction or planned are an 18 million dollar flood protection project, more than one million dollars worth of new schools, a two million dollar sewage treatment plant, a 13 million dollar Baltimore and Ohio railroad yards expansion, and a 12 million dollar thruway.

Cumberland, hit by curtailments in key industries, is making a comeback that has city fathers complaining of growing pains. The mayor and council are considering petitions for a referendum on a $500,000 Federal Urban Development bond issue. They may also lift the ceiling on the city's property tax in view of the expected growth and need to increase city services.

While other areas can't boast the industrial growth of Cumberland, there isn't a section of the state where heavy construction isn't on the increase.

The slow-down in construction of new homes is hitting the big city developer in the pocketbook. In the Maryland suburbs of Washington, where home building is off 26 per cent from last year, some big operators reportedly are down to their last town car and yacht. They say a lack of easy single-unit homes while row houses slowed only a little because of the financing—"No Down Payment" es and apartment construction more stringent financing requirements—is driving many of them as virtually ceased.

At Salisbury, a representative years has been abnormally high. In the Baltimore area, the de-smaller town, builder George P. and he looks to 1957 as a "level-up" year. Developers are sticking largely to Chandler said home building had ing off year.

Bruce High Students In New School

The 620 students of new Bruce Junior-Senior High School in Westernport made a fresh start for the final months of the current school year in the modern building on Greene's Addition yesterday morning.

They had left the old school when classes recessed for the Easter vacation, and returned yesterday to the brand new building.

As soon as they reached the school, the students were ushered to the auditorium.

There a program was held with the principal, Kenneth Sheetz, stressing the fact that a new school is what the students make it.

He called for respect in the use of the modern facilities provided in the $2,000,000 structure.

Each student was given a pamphlet of the school's floor plan so that he will be able to make his way around during the orientation period.

The program included flag salute led by Dorsey White and Robert Boal, members of the Student Council.

The scripture was read by Susan Vanorsdale, president of the Student Council, followed by "The Star Spangled Banner" and group singing led by Miss Betty Jane Withrow, music instructor.

After adjournment, the students went to their respective rooms. Luncheon was served at noon in the cafeteria, as the school was ready for full scale operations yesterday.

During the Easter recess, six to eight Board of Education workers were kept busy transferring the files, library books, furniture, office equipment and the pianos from old Bruce High School.

Parents Blamed For Youth Behavior

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan yesterday urged definite steps to combat a recent wave of vandalism, beatings and petty thefts by teen-agers.

Keegan noted that the city is taking "a terrific financial beating."

A letter concerning the matter has been prepared by Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn and will be presented at Monday's Mayor and Council meeting by Commissioner Keegan.

The text of the letter in part follows:

"During the past few months there has been an influx of teen-agers out after midnight either joyriding in their parents' cars or just aimlessly strolling around the streets. Many of these teen-agers have been picked up and their parents notified, but apparently the parents have done nothing about the situation.

"For the sake of the children as well as the parents, I would suggest that the curfew law now in violation of the provisions of this section shall be liable to the penalties herein provided."

Chief Flynn said that if the ordinance is passed it will be of great help to parents in controlling their children, many of them being easily led into vice and temptation.

The chief also noted that the fights which involved teen-age boys during the past few days would not have occurred had they been home at the proper time.

Budget Reform 'Thaw' Foreseen

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—A Maryland congressman said today the "heat" from the controversy over more money for the Post Office Department may "thaw the freeze on budgetary reform."

Rep. Hyde (R-Md.) said Congress and Postmaster General Summerfield were both at fault—Congress because it has failed to modernize the budgetary machinery and Summerfield for "failing to live" within funds originally granted by Congress.

Emergencies are unpredictable, Hyde added. "But 'emergencies' have become a custom with many federal agencies."

"The executive branch ought to understand that when Congress, after careful study, appropriates funds to run the agency or program, it is really the people telling the executive branch just how much it can have."

Hyde added in a news letter that "perhaps the unnecessary and high-handed action of the postmaster general in shutting down postal service will result in improvements in the appropriating and spending of the people's money."

Water Dispute Goes To Court

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court was told today that a contractor laying sewer pipe should foot the bill for a water company, which had to relocate several mains.

West Virginia Water Service Co., in a suit certified from Kanawha County, wants $4,938 from I. V. Cunningham, doing business as Mountain State Construction Co. Cunningham claims he should not have to pay because he was laying the sewer pipe for the Charleston Sanitary Board. Circuit Judge Frank Taylor found that the board had the same immunity from damage suits as municipalities do.

In effect, Judge Taylor held that West Virginia Water Service cannot collect the relocation costs from Mountain State.

"The Sanitary Board of the City of Charleston was an agency of said city..." Cunningham argued before the Supreme Court. "Defendant contracted operated..." under the authority of the Sanitary Board and was entitled to the same immunities and defenses...

"It is equally clear," Judge Raine added, "although there is no case law readily available, that a person who receives stolen money is under an implied contractual obligation to return the money to the lawful owner."

"It is a fair inference that the $1,500 received by the defendant is, in fact, part of the proceeds of the burglary and recovery in that amount may be added upon the common count" of conspiracy to defraud.

Odom and James Golden were arrested in October 1955 by the FBI. They were held until Nov. 9 when they were released for insufficient evidence.

Odom then was taken to Buffalo, N. Y., and convicted July 24, 1956, for conspiracy and mail fraud. It involved the swindling of Augustine Cunningham, Rochester industrialist, out of $423,771. He is serving a three-year term in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison.

Young Rail Fan Fulfills Ambition To Run Big Train

MINEOLA, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—One of boyhood's bright dreams is of someday taking the controls of a train, a real, full size train. Today such a dream came true for 6-year-old Raymond Kajowski.

Raymond, who lives in Greenlawn on Long Island, wrote the Long Island Rail Road. He told them how he had spent hours with his toy trains until he had exhausted all their potentialities for adventure.

He suggested that he was ready to graduate to the real thing.

The Long Island agreed. By invitation today Raymond mounted the cab of the 12:17 p. m. train out of Jamaica. From the lap of engineer George Archibald, Raymond handled throttle, brakes and whistle as he brought the train in here.

Along the route, Archibald described to Raymond the passing scene and alerted him to crossings as they loomed ahead. For, you see, Raymond Kajowski, who so long to be an engineer, is blind. The letter that touched the heart of the Long Island Rail Road was one he had written himself — in braille.

Two Men Charged With Statutory Rape

The state's attorney's office yesterday obtained warrants charging two area men with statutory rape.

James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney, said the warrants were secured after he questioned two 13-year-old girls in connection with a morals offense Tuesday night on Oldtown Road.

He said the men, Harvey C. Linn, Route 4, and Dewey Emerick, Valley Street, both in the early 20's, are in custody and probably will receive preliminary hearings today for the purpose of setting bond.

Mr. Getty said the girls were taken to Linn's home on Oldtown Road. The men were arrested at 1:40 a. m. by Trooper D. A. Tucker.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick said he issued warrants against both men charging offenses against both girls.

Marine's Mother Blocks Marriage

Plans of Marine Pvt. Patrick T. Henggi, 17, stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., and Donna Kidwell, 19, both of the Oakmont section of Pittsburgh, Pa., to be married here, were stymied yesterday by his mother in the clerk's office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

They applied for the marriage license here Monday and the 48-hour waiting period ended yesterday morning. His mother was waiting at the Court House when they arrived and demanded that they not be given the license. She said her son had sworn falsely that he was 21 years old when he applied for the license.

Mrs. Henggi finally talked her son and "almost daughter-in-law" into returning to Pittsburgh with her.

Should Senator Pay Tax On U.S. Funds?

U. S. Senator John J. Williams has again found that something that happened to him has national significance. It was 10 years ago that the Delaware Senator—then not active in politics—started his one-man crusade against corruption in the Bureau of Internal Revenue when he found that an agent was tampering with his personal income tax returns.

Since then he has kept everlastingly at being a taxpayers' watchdog. More than any other member of Congress he went after corruption in the Truman administration. Meanwhile and constantly he has gone after the legalized waste and inefficiency that can cost the people just as dearly as corruption.

Now he comes up with a minor but amazing story of his troubles in giving back to the government some money he didn't need for office supplies. Senator Williams found he had $1,508.26 left over from that account. From 1948 through 1955 he had no trouble turning back what he didn't spend. This time he came up against a "new ruling" of the Treasury. The ruling was that if he had a balance left, he would have to pay income tax on it! He was told he couldn't even make a free gift of the money to the government without paying a gift tax!

All this seems strange to a man who says he regards the money as belonging to the American people. Certainly the taxpayers shouldn't be saddled with the purchase of tons of office supplies the Senator doesn't need.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
He Doth Protest

Methinks, Lester Pearson of Canada doth protest too much. He has burgeoned the suicide of Herbert Norman, sad as it is, into a political issue, not only domestically in Canada but internationally between the United States and Canada.

Cut away the diplomatic drippings of his demands and they come down to the proposition that no Congressional committee shall ever investigate a Canadian. Even though what is being investigated is an American matter. Does that mean that no Congressional committee is ever to study the Canadian Newspaper Cartel which is causing so much havoc to the free press of this country? Does that mean that no Congressional committee is ever to investigate the effect upon the United States economy of the Canadian Whisky Cartel which does 90 per cent of its business within the United States? Does Pearson wish that no investigation be made of Canadian fraudulent stocks sold over the counter in the United States and costing the American public, it has been estimated, about one million dollars a day?

Lester Pearson must know that years ago when Elizabeth Bentley was testifying about her own Communist activities, she, in executive session, mentioned a Canadian. That testimony has been suppressed for all these years. I am not saying that I know what was in this testimony taken in executive session before a Congressional committee because no one is supposed to know what happens behind those closed doors. But surely no one will deny that there was such testimony by Elizabeth Bentley.

But now that Lester Pearson is risking the normally good relations between Canada and the United States over the suicide of Herbert Norman, would it not be of value to make public everything there is on the subject so that whatever is false may be denied? It would also be interesting if a Senate committee might bring back to the United States our Ambassador to Portugal, James Bonbright, to ask him under oath what he did with the copy of the Bentley testimony which he was instructed to give to the Prime Minister of Canada, who, I understand, never received it.

There is no value in two countries hating each other because someone lied or made a mistake. There is enough trouble in this world without stirring up more for personal or political reasons. Lester Pearson says that he knew that Herbert Norman had "in his student days" associated with Communists. He says that he investigated and cleared Norman in 1951. Where is the record of such an investigation and such a clearance? As much of Herbert Norman's personal and political activities were in the United States and in Japan in association with Americans, it would have been of value for our people to know, as far back as 1951, that Norman had been investigated and cleared by his own government in some formal manner.

But what would be interesting would be to know if the Canadian Mounties have a copy of Elizabeth Bentley's testimony, made in executive session, and whether they have any corroborative data concerning it or, having checked, they found Miss Bentley's testimony untrue.

It is always sad when a man commits suicide. It is somehow even sadder when a man of talent and promise and high position finds that he has no hope left and he jumps off a roof. There are easier ways of committing suicide. Herbert Norman was making a public demonstration. It could not be over the fact that he had dined with John K. Emmerson in Beirut, which is the only pertinent testimony before the Eastland Committee. It was too great a deed over too small a fact.

Herbert Norman was making a public demonstration over something enormous, something that really needs looking into. What it is, the public does not know. It could have been many things, one of them, that the ghosts of his "student days" were pressing him against a wall and threatening him in a manner used only by gangsters and Communists.

But why speculate? Why not ask how it happened that Americans and Canadians who were suspected of playing into Soviet Russia's hands in the Far East between 1945 and 1951, were, in 1956, in high posts in the Middle East, which at the moment, Soviet Russia was subjecting to its imperial will? The investigation of that curiosity ought not to stop.

Little One That Got Away?

The Arab Legion As Key To Jordan's Crisis

AMMAN, Jordan

As these words are written, the situation in this unhappy little country is again confused—this time by the sudden departure of the new chief of staff of the Arab Legion, Gen. Ali Hayari.

From Damascus, where he had gone on an alleged official mission, Gen. Hayari telephoned his resignation from the post he had just accepted. He had been extremely reluctant to take the post, because he is a fellow townsman and cousin of his predecessor, Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar. And he was apparently upset by newly ordered transfers of officers designed to insure the Arab Legion's loyalty to King Hussein.

The mixture of politics and personality in Gen. Hayari's motives is a characteristically Jordanian mixture. It makes doubly difficult to forecast the outcome of a situation which repeatedly seems to solidify and then again deliquesces into total uncertainty.

The end may be either martial law or a final triumph of the recently defeated Left-wing, pro-Egyptian groups. And the most influential single factor will be the Arab Legion, which has not yet got a permanent commanding officer.

In the midst of this uncertainty, however, it is still worth trying to distinguish the forces that are in play here, if only because the conflicting forces in this Jordanian drama in effect sum up the forces now in conflict throughout the Arab Middle East.

At the outset, then, it is clear that a sort of concealed coup d'etat was attempted here on orders from Cairo. The idea was to rivet Egypt control on Jordan once and for all by reducing King Hussein to a figurehead and concentrating all real authority in the hands of Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar and the pro-Egyptian Jordanian politicians.

The fact that the initiative came from Cairo is proven by many such details as the presence in Amman of a battalion of Egyptian "newspaper men"—literally several scores of them—who fled the country the instant the attempted coup d'etat failed last weekend. It failed because the Egyptian leadership had grossly underestimated King Hussein and the Bedouin tribesmen who are loyal to him. It also failed because the real power of Gen. Abu Nuwar had been grossly overestimated, both by the Egyptians and himself.

The real significance of this failure was in turn revealed by one of the more remarkable contrasts of the last stirring weekend. In the North, the Syrians threatened to come to the aid of the forces working against King Hussein. In the South, King Saud of Saudi Arabia immediately placed his own troops in Jordan under King Hussein's personal command.

This contrast neatly symbolizes the inner schism in President Nasser's grand Egyptian-led alliance. It is a split down the middle between King Saud's Arabia and King Hussein's Jordan, on the one hand, and Egypt and the Egyptian satellite, Syria, on the other hand. Appearances are being preserved within the grand alliance. King Hussein has protested his loyalty to the alliance and its program. But the split is there, and it will become deep and final if the Egyptians cannot recover the ground they lost here in Jordan.

The cause of the split, in turn, is the reliance Egypt has placed in both Jordan and Syria, on the extreme Left-Wing parties. In both countries, the strongest supporters of absolute subservience to Egypt are the Communists, not numerous but active and influential, and the Baath party, both influential and strong in numbers especially among the youth. Egyptian influence resting on this kind of support is no more attractive to King Saud than to King Hussein.

In plain terms, King Saud feels himself ultimately threatened. This is the real reason (rather than the amiability of President Eisenhower) that King Saud has lately been drawing closer both to King Hussein and King Faisal of Iraq. Meanwhile, the Left-Wing parties are still very strong in Jordan and the final test here has not been reached. So you may pay your money and take your choice on the future.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

This stack of premature diplomacy broke the Aswan Dam story two weeks before Dulles' yes-men had oiled their first nod.

Anybody with half an ounce of mascara could see Nasser was baiting Suez for Aswan. When the self-made Khedive took over we figured Dulles had told him, "You're not getting any of our dam money."

That was as plain as the trunk on an elephant's smile. Two and two make four. But always count 'em before leaving the window.

We cannot claim to approve of Dulles' brink diplomacy. You know what happened to Brink in Boston.

Dulles says we have been on edge like an asparagus patch. If he thinks he has a tough job how would he like to darn the sox of a Fiji fire dancer?

Nasser's diplomacy is as Oriental as rice. And as Western as the cream and sugar.

He's been playing both ends against the middle like a buck-toothed boy on a mouth organ.

There's no use now worrying about water that should have gone over the dam. (Distributed by INS)

German Measles Dangerous During Pregnancy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

German measles is trivial unless acquired during the first three months of pregnancy. It is hazardous—not to the mother—but to the baby who is going through a vital stage of development. A large percentage of these tots are born with defects of the heart, eyes, and ears. We do not know why except that the infection interferes with the growth of the fetus during this period.

Physicians call this disease rubella because the name measles is easily confused with the regular type. Both are caused by viruses that are present in the mouth and the nasal secretions. These organisms are spread out with every breath, cough, and sneeze. The hands are contaminated when brought to the mouth or nose.

But other aspects of the disease are different. Rubella begins like an ordinary cold with slight sore throat, headache, and mild fever. The earliest clue is swelling and tenderness of the glands in the neck just behind the ears. The characteristic rash usually follows in less than 24 hours; it starts on the face and spreads over the body. The first day it looks like measles, although the lesions are a lighter pink and speckled in distribution. But the next day the eruption looks more like scarlet fever. On the third day it is gone.

Some authorities have suggested that all young girls be exposed to German measles so that they will become immune before they marry. This is logical, considering its mild nature in childhood.

Otherwise, gamma globulin is administered to all pregnant women who are exposed to the disease. This is not a sure preventative but the unborn child may be protected by this prophylactic measure.

FEARS MOTHERHOOD

Mrs. L. writes: I'm a married woman of 21 and have a terrible fear of giving birth, because I can't get it out of my mind that I will die in the process. Since my husband wants to get a family started, this has caused some bickering. How can I go about getting over being scared?

REPLY: Why not discuss the problem with your family physician? He can show you the statistics on the safety of childbirth and the advantages of starting a family in the early twenties. Or, you can let nature take its course and your maternal instinct will develop.

CERVICAL ARTHRITIS

Mrs. G. writes: About a year ago, my husband developed pain in the nape of the neck, and X-rays showed arthritis. He has been taking pills and the pain is no better; it even seems to be getting worse. Is there any way he can be relieved?

REPLY: A head halter is the next step, along with heat and massage. The halter is attached to weights that pull on the neck to relax the muscles and separate the vertebrae. I'm assuming the "pills" are the best arthritic remedies we have.

WEAK FINGERS

M. J. writes: What would cause loss of strength in the fingers of one hand?

REPLY: The most common cause is a disturbance of the nerves that control the muscles of the hands. Some of these nerves originate in the brain and travel to the fingers via the brachial plexus in the # Boat-A-Rama Is Scheduled At Addison, Pa.

Youghiogheny Lake Promotion Started

ADDISON, Pa.—The business firms of Addison, Pa. are endeavoring to shine the activity spotlight on the Youghiogheny Lake as the future recreational area of Western Pennsylvania, by conducting a "Boat-A-Rama" for the general public. Saturday and Sunday.

Boating as a hobby, has grown by leaps and bounds in the community and by giving free boat rides to the public the firms hope to stimulate more interest in the lake and promote bigger and better developments.

The Youghiogheny Reservoir, constructed as a flood control dam has become a wonderful resort area and is situated in Pennsylvania and Maryland on the Youghiogheny River, 22 miles east of Uniontown, on Route 40. The dam is an earth filled structure, 184 feet high and about 1 mile above the town of Confluence. It has a drainage area of 430 square miles and provides about 248,000 acre feet of water storage.

The reservoir is owned and operated by the U. S. Government—Corps of Engineers for the purpose of flood control and low water supplementation for improved navigation and pollution abatement. The reservoir has about 75 miles of short line and affords excellent motor boating, fishing, skiing and swimming. The Corps of Engineers maintains 3 picnic areas on the lake. The lake shores are undisturbed and kept in their natural state to give the full beauty of the mountains.

All facilities such as motels, hotels, restaurants, and boat docks are available at the Youghiogheny Reservoir, and business firms extend a cordial invitation to inspect the facilities April 27-28, and get a free boat ride.

He congratulated John M. Golladay Post on making the quota on the membership drive this year. The department commander urged the local post to take an active part in community and civic affairs, particularly with the youth of the community.

Hardman pointed out that 4300 Boy Scout troops in the nation are sponsored by Legion posts. WINCHESTER, Va., April 24 (AP)—Chances are there won't be any blossoms for the 30th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival May 2-3.

He said blossoms, hurried along at a rapid pace by the current hot weather, will probably reach their peak this Friday.

There are only two conditions, Dr. Hough said, that could prevent the trees from being blossoming when the festival begins—a prolonged cold spell combined with an absence of hard showers.

Robbins Scores In North-South

Leads Advancers With Two Wins

PINEHURST, N. C., April 24 (AP)—Defending champion and medalist Hillman Robbins led the advance into the quarterfinals of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament with two victories today.

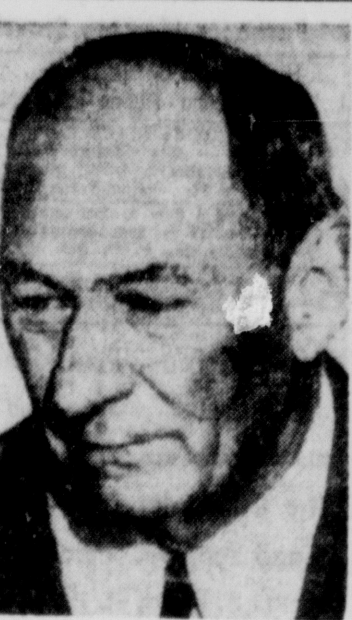

The 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant from Memphis, Tenn., had to go all out to win his ragged morning second round match, 1 up from Billy Thornton of Jupiter, Fla., but he came back impressively to shoot two under par golf in a 5 and 4 conquest of Ed Tutwiler of Charleston, W. Va.

Against Thornton, Robbins was three down through 10 holes, but won three of the next four to get even and went ahead for the first time with a birdie four on 16. They matched pars after that as Robbins held on to win with a three over par performance.

Colorful Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., the 1954 winner, made up a three-hole deficit on the last five, only to lose on the 20th to Dr. Bud Taylor of Pomona, Calif.

Two-time champion Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., will play Lawrence Cook, Wrigglesville, N. C., policeman.

Campbell, after driver trouble that had him five over par in his 2 up morning victory over John McCann Jr. of Charlotte, N. C., was only one over in his 4 and 2 afternoon conquest of Harry Harvick of Lancaster, Pa.

Brooks Beat Giants, 4-3

Cluster All Runs In Fourth Inning

BROOKLYN, April 24 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers sprung a four-run fourth-inning trap that chased rookie righthander Curt Barclay and made it stand up for a 4-3 victory over the New York Giants tonight although held to one hit the rest of the way by three relievers.

The Dodgers, retaining a share of the National League lead with Milwaukee on a 6-1 record, had only five hits for the night, but lumped three of them in the payoff fourth.

A fielding error by Barclay opened the inning and three consecutive hits, singles by Duke Snider and Carl Furillo and a double by Gil Hodges, brought the Brooks a 2-2 tie. A walk to Randy Jackson loaded the bases, Roy Campanella lifted a sacrifice fly to make it 3-2 and Hodges then scored the clincher on a passed ball.

Bold Ruler Leaves For Kentucky Derby

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Bold Ruler departed by train late today for the Kentucky Derby accompanied by Rusty, three Irishmen, a German and a ton of equipment including his own special mountain water and food. So, if you've been worrying about the gas bill for the old jalopy, or taxi-cab fares, just remember if costs about $1,200 to ship the East's main derby hope to Louisville.

Rusty is a pony of just that color, who goes with Bold Ruler wherever he travels and accompanies him to the starting gate on days he races. The Irishmen are Bart Sweeney, foreman for Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, exercise boy Tommy Quinn, watchman Jim Driscoll, the German, a native of Brooklyn, is Robert "Snag" Bittorf, the colt's groom.

Rocking Chair Teams To Hold Practices

The Eagles of the Rocking Chair League will hold a practice session today at 5:30 p. m. at Stutter Field.

The Moose team of the Rocking Chair loop plans to drill today at 5:30 p. m. at Naval Reserve Field, McKaig's Hill.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved mother, Mrs. Hazel Burke, whom God called to rest one year ago today April 25, 1956.

No one knows the silent heartache Only those who have lost can tell Of grief that is borne in silence For my dear Mother I loved so well. Peacefully sleeping, resting at last The World's weeping troubles and trials are past In silence she suffered, in patience she bore Till God called her home to suffer no more. Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Collins.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy extended us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, David McFarlane. Especially we wish to thank Rev. Harold May, the pallbearers, and all those who sent flowers donated cars and helped in any way. His wife, Helen McFarlane and children, John Michael and Melva Suzanne.

City Briefed On Proposals For Thruway

Plans Will Be Given To SRC

City officials were briefed yesterday on engineering studies which have been prepared by Green Associates for major approaches of the Cumberland Thruway.

Advance plans for the Thruway approaches and the Industrial Boulevard were brought here by Marshall McCord and Robert Czaban of the Baltimore firm of consulting engineers.

Mr. McCord said the studies were discussed with C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and Mayor Roy W. Eves, and will be presented to the Maryland State Roads Commission.

"We have an idea," he said, "and if the State Roads Commission and Mr. Nuzum like it, we will go ahead and design."

Drawings Shown

The idea was set forth in numerous drawings which were shown to Mr. Nuzum and then taken back to Baltimore for submission to the SRC.

The studies included the most vital portions of the Thruway — the access facilities in the Mechanic-George street area and the west approach to the multiple-lane viaduct section of the $12,000,000 project.

Studies of the Industrial Boulevard, which will connect the modern facility with Route 51, were also included.

Mr. Nuzum said a State Roads Commission official has advised the city that a contract for the portion of the boulevard from Everts Creek to Vancouver Street is to be let this year.

Already under contract for $370,478 is the bridge which will carry Route 51 traffic over Everts Creek. The pre-stressed concrete bridge will be built by the George Construction Company here.

Discuss Access

Although the bridge is located outside the city limits, its construction was a necessary part of the Thruway project.

Also held during yesterday's conference was a general discussion on means to carry traffic in and out of the site of the city's third housing project.

Officials said the plans discussed yesterday made no change toward eliminating a conflict which has developed at the housing project site.

The approach to the Thruway, under plans revised after property was purchased would overlap one 20-family dwelling unit in the area bounded by Oldtown Road, Thomas Street, Cresap Street and Hemlock Alley.

Former Resident Dies Of Heart Attack On Plane

Charles Samuel House Jr., 33, formerly of RFD 1, Oldtown, died of a heart attack aboard a United Airlines plane while en route from Seattle, Wash., to Cumberland for medical treatment.

A brother, John J. House, RFD 1, Oldtown, had gone to Seattle to visit his brother, who had complained of ill health. John House tried unsuccessfully to get his brother to undergo medical treatment there, but the man insisted he would prefer to return to Cumberland.

They boarded the plane at Seattle about 7 a.m. Monday. About 400 miles from Seattle, while the airliner was flying at 19,000 feet, Charles House died of a heart attack. He was dead when the plane made an emergency landing at Boise, Idaho, to get the aid of a physician for him.

The body, being returned by train, will be at the Hafer Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Friday. A funeral service will be conducted there at 3:30 p.m. Sunday by Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church. Interment will be in Oldtown Cemetery.

Mr. House was born at Oldtown, a son of the late Charles Samuel and Ruth Emeline (Piper) House. A merchant mariner, he had lived in Seattle the past 15 years. Unmarried, he is survived by his brother, a sister, Mrs. Mason Davis, North Branch, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Woman Seeks Injunction On Right Of Way

Mrs. Genevieve Yonkers Schaffer, part owner of nearly 25 acres of land atop Polish Mountain, has filed an equity suit in Allegheny County Circuit Court seeking an injunction to prevent workers building the new U. S. Route 40 down the west slope of the mountain from using a private road at the rear of her home.

Mrs. Schaffer named as defendants Harry G. Smith, who is job superintendent for the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Striping and Construction Company of Hazleton, Pa., the road builder; and G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission.

Chief Judge George Henderson has signed an order giving the defendants 10 days to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

On April 1, the State Roads Commission filed a condemnation suit against Mrs. Schaffer, her husband, Robert W. Schaffer; the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, mortgagee, and unknown owners of some 23.43 acres of land on Polish Mountain needed for the highway improvement. The SRC deposited a $37,200 check with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, representing the value it placed on the property sought by condemnation.

Mrs. Schaffer states in her bill of complaint that she has given the defendants permission to use a driveway along the front of her house. On or about April 11, the contractor began operating heavy construction vehicles over a driveway to the rear of the house, she says.

The complainant stated that she placed a rope across the driveway with a sign indicating that it was a private road but she charges that Smith removed the rope and has continued to use the road. She asserts this is dangerous because her eight-year-old daughter and five-year-old son and their pets have no safe place to play.

Legion Post Seeks Lost Wheel Chair

During the Christmas season of 1955, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, loaned one of its wheel chairs to an area family for use of a member of the family who was ill. The custodian at the Legion Home failed to obtain a complete record of the name and address of the person obtaining the chair.

Legion officers say they have received several requests since for use of a wheel chair, and if this one is no longer being used, they would like it returned. The Legion will have it picked up if a call is made by the borrower to PA 2-9710. If the person using it still needs it, the chair may be used as long as required. However, to complete the post records, the person having the chair is asked to notify the post.

The Legion post purchased the chair from its own funds for the purpose of lending it to individuals in need of such an item.

Chain Saw Exhibit Planned At Oldtown

A chain saw demonstration for high school juniors and seniors, farmers and woodsmen of the Oldtown area will be held at Oldtown High School starting at 7:30 p. m. EDT Tuesday, according to James H. House, agriculture teacher there.

Attachments and other equipment will be demonstrated. Refreshments will be served and a film will be shown. There also will be a prize.

EASTER SEAL LUCKY BUCKS NEEDED NOW

The next 218 bucks mailed for Easter Seals will be lucky for crippled children in Allegheny county because that's the number of dollars needed to make the 1957 seal campaign total $8,000.

Over 23,000 residents of Allegheny county received Easter Seals in the mail a month ago, and a check yesterday showed $7,782 had been received in returns at headquarters.

Much more than $8,000 is needed, however, to finance treatment of crippled children in this section, and it is hoped that at least $10,000 will be received this year.

Don't hold back if you have not yet mailed your money for the seals. It's possible that the buck you haven't returned is the dollar that will be needed to reach this year's goal.

21 Building Permits Issued

Spring and the usual increase in building activity having arrived, some 21 building permits for construction estimated by the building department to cost a total of about $105,750 have been issued in the past 10 or 12 days by the Allegheny County assessing department.

Thirteen of the 21 permits were for construction of new dwellings, one of which also will be equipped with carport. The estimated costs ranged from $2,000 to $16,000. Other permits authorized construction of a sawmill, a storage, a cabin, a garage, an addition to a dwelling, remodeling of a dwelling, a tool shed and enclosure of a porch.

The construction was authorized in nine election districts of the county. District 29 at LaVale was the leader with five, followed by Districts 21 at Gross, Baltimore Pike, and 5, North End suburban, each with three. Districts with two permits each included 6, Bowling Green-Potomac Park; 26, Frostburg suburban, and 16, North Branch. A single permit was issued in District 24, Eckhart; District 22, East Side suburban; District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings, and District 20, Ellerslie.

Those issued dwelling permits included Earl and Viva Lancaster, RFD 3; Grover Yohn, Rawlings; Henry Dressman, LaVale, two, one in LaVale and the other in the North End area just beyond the Piedmont Avenue city limits; Don Mary, RFD 2, Hinkle Road; Donald Workman, LaVale; Harry Vernon Miller, Vocke Road; Eston P. Paxton, RFD 2, Williams Road; Clarence W. Raley, Cresaptown; Howard A. Grimm, RFD 4; George O. Thrush, 606 Shriver Avenue, two dwellings in LaVale, and Everett B. Elliott, RFD 3.

Mr. O'Donnell explained that all of the work to be done by the boys will be threefold in purpose. It will provide training and education, provide a gainful task and at the same time create facilities at a minimal cost.

The first such forestry camp for boys transferred from the state training schools was opened in Green Ridge Forest in Allegheny County in May 1955. Next will come one just four miles west of Lonaconing in Garrett County. The third will be located on Meadow Mountain at New Germany. Ralph D. Swauger of Friendsville was appointed last week as director of the camp west of Lonaconing.

Local Naval Reservists Make West Indies Cruise

$100,000 Fund Available For Forestry Camps

Plans To Be Ready
Within Two Weeks

Drawings and specifications for the two proposed new state boys' forestry camps in Garrett County are nearing completion and James J. O'Donnell, director of the State Department of Public Improvements, anticipates that they will be in the hands of the contractors in about two weeks.

A total of $100,000 was provided in the General Construction Loan of 1956 for the two camps. Of this amount $89,000 is for construction and $11,000 for equipment.

Each camp will accommodate 25 boys and the necessary supervisory personnel. Eventually, Mr. O'Donnell said, each camp will be composed of three basic buildings. The first building will contain the dining hall and kitchen, hobby room and recreation room and a small laundry.

The second building will include dormitory, toilet and shower rooms, counselor room and locker room. The third building will be for staff, with living facilities for supervisory and training personnel.

Mr. O'Donnell explained that it also will be necessary to provide sanitary disposal facilities, water supply and electricity.

It is anticipated that the contract will include only the basic shells and absolutely essential facilities for housing the boys during the warmer season. The boys themselves, during the warm weather, will apply the finish, considerable of the interior partitioning, insulation, painting as well as trimming the grounds in general and perhaps the installation of parts of the utilities which primarily involve simple work.

Two Bases For Bids

The drawings call for bids on two bases. One is for prefabricated sheet metal shells to be erected by the contractor. The other basic bid envisions the erection of a frame building similar to army barracks buildings.

The two main buildings will be basic in both instances. The third structure for the supervisory personnel will be added only if funds are ample. It may be that this entire building will become a boys training project.

Mr. O'Donnell explains that all of the work to be done by the boys will be threefold in purpose. It will provide training and education, provide a gainful task and at the same time create facilities at a minimal cost.

The first such forestry camp for boys transferred from the state training schools was opened in Green Ridge Forest in Allegheny County in May 1955. Next will come one just four miles west of Lonaconing in Garrett County. The third will be located on Meadow Mountain at New Germany. Ralph D. Swauger of Friendsville was appointed last week as director of the camp west of Lonaconing.

Parole Is Lifted

William "Buck" Brant, city, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate Donald W. Mason. He was charged with being a habitual drunkard and for violation of parole granted April 15 on the same charge.

Local Naval Reservists Make West Indies Cruise

Petition Count Continues; 1,324 Names Certified

Finan Clarifies
Verification Rules

The first phase of the validation of signatures on petitions calling for a referendum on a proposed $500,000 bond issue ended yesterday as Mayor W. Eves announced 1,324 signers are qualified voters and Charles Z. Heskett, who presented the petitions declared "We won't sit benignly by and let someone count us out."

Mayor Eves said the announcement does not mean the petition is lost but that 1,324 signers are "unquestionably" qualified and that city officials are checking to determine whether it is possible legally to qualify the other names on the petitions.

He said the Registration Office is separating the rest of the cards into groups and that when this is done, he will ask City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to make rulings on the procedures to be used in checking signatures in each group.

Pledges Fair Count

Meanwhile, Mr. Finan said he wished to emphasize that the instructions issued to the City Clerk for counting of names on the petition requesting a referendum on the $500,000 bond issue were established for the purpose of separating the names into various categories, adding:

"If the counting is to proceed in any orderly fashion there must be some suggested guide to go by. First of all, there are those signatures and addresses which accurately correspond with records in the Registration Office."

"Next we have names and addresses which for a multitude of reasons do not conform with the way the person's name and address purports to appear on the petition as contrasted with the registration books."

"These latter have been separated into separate categories for further consideration in order to ascertain if the variance in the names and addresses is fatal."

"There has been no statement, so far as I know, as to any final decision regarding such names, and any statement that there has been is completely erroneous and contrary to fact."

"I can assure every that a threat to take the city into question to the winds in the counting of these names will not deter the City from endeavoring to be as fair and impartial as possible."

Mr. Heskett, who brought the petitions to City Hall on April 5, said:

"We will have the city attorney sitting for months in Circuit Court if names are counted out on sheer technical grounds. We will summon, if we have to, every signer to court to be identified and verified as a voter," he added.

Says "Arbitrary Stand"

He referred to rulings on name verification on petitions made at a conference of Mayor Roy W. Eves, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

After the session, the Mayor told Ullery to have his clerks go ahead with counting the names on the petitions that matched exactly with the registration books as for address, and first name and middle initial.

Counted out for the time being were those two big categories—For example: J. J. Jones, 105 B Street, on petition where John B. Jones, 105 B Street is found in the registration books; and E. John Jones, 105 A Street on petition and John E. Jones, 105 A Street on the poll books.

Heskett said that an arbitrary stand is being taken on these rulings.

All the law requires is that the petitions contain 20 per cent of the qualified voters of the city, Heskett declared. (This figure is 2,548. The petitions contain 3,995 names.)

"It doesn't matter if the signer has moved, or if his name isn't exactly like it is on the poll books," Heskett declared, "just so long as it one and the same person."

"The law doesn't say how to sign the petitions. The law should be followed in substance, and not on sheer technical grounds," he added.

Under constitutional home rule, it is up to the city's legislative body to verify the signatures on the petitions as qualified voters.

Placed On Cards

Shortly after the petitions were presented, Mayor Eves asked the Registration Office to transcribe the names on cards which showed the petition page number, the name as signed on the petition and as shown on the registration card. Blanks were provided to check if the signer was qualified or not qualified.

Space was also included to check if initials were used, if initial or name was transposed, illegible signature, husband's name used by wife, "Mr. and Mrs." signatures, different address, and if the signer had voted during the required five-year period.

Musicians To Elect

The cubbers then will join the scouts for their Indian display program about 8:30 p. m.

Ruehl Ordered To Repay 'Cut' Of Safe Loot

Lee Green Wins
$1,500 Verdict

TOWSON, Md., April 24 (AP) — There was a $17,500 safe blowing seven years ago.

No one ever was convicted. But today a mild-mannered reformatory employee was told he'd have to pay out $1,500 plus interest. He admitted that was his share of the loot.

As Circuit Judge John E. Raine, Jr., observed:

"This case has all the ingredients of a Mickey Spillane novel." Walter Ewald Ruehl, now a housemaster at the Maryland Training School for Boys, was ordered to pay the money to Lee A. Green.

Green, a former Cumberland, Md., slot machine operator, had the money hidden in a compartment of his safe at home. Green is the husband of Ruehl's former wife.

"Whodunit" Material

The ingredients of the mountain whodunit, as Judge Raine put it, include:

"A bundle of cash hidden in a secret compartment; a band of professional yeggs hiding in a deserted cabin by a mountain lake; a mysterious informer who implicates a divorced man (Ruehl) who knew of a plan to blow open the safe of his former spouse's new husband."

Green's attorney, Edward J. Ryan, said criminal charges should have been filed. He said the civil case was filed as much to bring the case to light as to recover any money.

One bizarre result of the safe robbery was that Green served a federal prison term for income tax evasion involving the stolen money.

Green's safe was looted Oct. 12, 1949. Besides the $17,500 in cash, the safe contained $10,000 in non-negotiable bonds. They were burned.

Ruehl's Story

The only evidence before Judge Raine before he handed down his 700-word opinion was a 27-page statement made by Ruehl two years ago. As Ruehl related it:

He met a man named Paul Odum who touted him on losing horse race bets for a year. After a time Ruehl told Odum about Green, saying the Cumberland man was well off.

Odum introduced Ruehl to another man, not identified. Judge Raine described him as a safe cracker imported from New England.

Three men subsequently went to a cabin owned by Ruehl on Deep Creek Lake near Cumberland. There they waited until the "time was right." The third man never has been identified.

Found Money In Cabin

Ruehl said the day after the robbery he found $1,500 in his cabin. Nothing happened for five years. Then a mysterious informer told Green that Ruehl knew something. Ruehl was picked up.

In his lengthy opinion handed down this morning, Judge Raine said Ruehl was clearly guilty of "misprision of felony"—neglecting to notify authorities.

"He also was guilty of receiving stolen goods. He may also have been guilty of being an accessory before the fact of the burglary in that he allowed the principal thieves to remain in his cabin . . ."

Was Part Of Loot

"It is a fair inference that the $1,500 received by the defendant is, in fact, part of the proceeds of the burglary and recovery in that amount may be added to the common count. A judgment will accordingly be entered for the plaintiff (Green) in the amount of $1,500 with interest from Oct. 12, 1949," Judge Raine ruled.

On Oct. 25 and 26, 1954, Judge Raine said Ruehl made written and verbal statements to police. "These statements were offered in evidence and are the only evidence connecting the defendant with the crime."

In his written statement, the judge said, Ruehl contended he placed the money in a can and dropped it in Deep Creek Lake. "But in a verbal statement he admitted that he converted the $1,500"
